A. S. OF E. MEETS AT FRANKFORT.

State Union Holds Business Session.

Old Officers Selected in Most Instances—Bowling Green Next Year.

The Kentucky State Union A. S. of E. met in the city of Frankfort, last Thursday, at 10 o'clock a. m. and was called to order by the President, Hon. J. Campbell Cantrill, who made a splendid address, telling of the struggles of the society during the past year and outlined some of the obstacles which may be encountered during the coming year. His address was interesting and at times eloquent and was well received by the delegates. The people of Frankfort did not show much appreciation for the meeting, as no arrangements had been made for a place in which to hold the sessions and no one appeared to make an address of welcome to the delegates. However, the State Secretary secured the old Senate chamber and arranged for having it heated and lighted by the custodian, Mr. Lewis. The meeting was very well attended, almost all of the organized counties being represented by delegates. A number of interesting speeches were made during the session and business of the convention was dispatched with promptness and in all probability the most thorough manner of any meeting which has been held since the State Union was organized. The following delegates were present from Ohio county: S. L. Stevens, J. L. Allen, E. G. Austin, D. E. Ward, S. F. Wallace, J. T. Hoagland, Henry Pirtle and C. M. Barnett.

No considerable change was made in the State Constitution and By-Laws of the society. The law was changed so as to permit persons to pay dues by the month, who join after the first of each year until the first of the next year, when they will pay $1.50 as heretofore. This change was made in order to relieve new members from paying the full years dues for less than a years membership. The membership fee of $1.00 remains the same. The convention was earnest and enthusiastic and seemed determined to make a strong effort to occupy new territory and enlarge membership greatly during the coming year. The following officers and committeemen were elected:

Congressman J. Campbell Cantrill, of Scott county, was re-elected president. The other officers chosen were: Vice president, Cicero M. Barnett, of Ohio; secretary-treasurer, S. B. Robertson, of McLean; State organizer, M. F. Sharp.

Executive Board—Ben Watson, A. H. Brooks, H. C. Swain, M. O. Hughes and T. T. Barnett.

Delegates to national convention of A. S. of E.: J. Campbell Cantrill, from the State-at-large; T. T. Barrett, S. B. Robertson, H. C. Swain, C. M. Barnett, C. M. Hanna, Edward Day, J. L. Belew, A. H. Brooks, J. E. Biggestaw Sam May, Ben Watson, J. H. McConnell, J. T. Bess, Edward Pollard, Price Beard, Hiram Bean, P. C. Stephens, F. F. Brown, W. H. Jones, G. F. Lancaster, J. M. Roark and G. C. Trayer.

Committee on Legislation for this year: T. T. Barrett, C. M. Barnett, W. H. Jones and J. H. McConnell.

Bowling Green was selected as the place for holding the next annual meeting, which will be the second Monday in January, 1911.

Raley-Wilson.

Mr. Worth Raley and Miss Ora Alice Wilson, both of Olaton, were married Friday, Jan. 14th, at the home of, and by Rev. T. J. Acton. The ceremony took place at 5:30 o'clock p. m., in the presence of a few relatives and intimate friends. The attendants were: Miss Bessie K. Acton, of Olaton and Mr. C. W. Moorman, of Taylor Mines. Immediately after the ceremony they retired to the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mary B. Wilson, where they will make their future home. The bride wore a beautiful costume of blue and white. Coat and hat of the same color. She is a very beautiful and charming young lady and comes from one of Ohio county's oldest and best families. The groom is a worthy and prosperous young man and a son of Mr. Wes Raley. They have a large circle of friends who join in wishing them a happy and successful future.

Among the Lodges.

Hartford Lodge No. 675 F. & A. M. held a regular convocation last Monday night and after an interesting business session, the first and third lectures were given by Messrs. G. B. Likens and W. N. Stevens in a very capable and interesting manner.

Rough River Lodge No. 110 K. of P. held an old time session Tuesday evening which was largely attended and two pages advanced to the rank of Esquire, the work being done in a splendid shape and to the great enjoyment of the large membership in attendance. This lodge will have work in the Third rank Tuesday evening.

GIGANTIC ICE GORGE.

Sixty Five Miles Long In Ohio River Breaks.

Tree's Cut Down Like Straws— Not Much Damage Being Done.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 18.—With a crash that could be heard for miles around, the huge ice gorge extending from Wolf creek to Kosmosdale, a distance of sixty-five miles, broke loose. The gorge at first moved very slowly, but in a short while began to pick up speed, and half an hour after the jam had begun to move was running at the rate of ten miles an hour.

Reports from all points in the vicinity of the gorge and several points where the gorge had passed, say that so far no damage to property has been done. The river is rising rapidly at many points where the ice jam is passing, the largest rise being noted at Stephenson, where the water rose three feet in fifteen minutes.

The ice gorge at Rock Haven, eight miles below West Point, which was separated from the main gorge by a five-mile stretch of water, also broke this morning, and now all the ice that has been holding the water back for a week is well on its way down the Ohio river.

At 12 o'clock the ice gorge was two miles above Concordia, Ky., and was breaking in large chunks. Persons having water craft in the river were hustling about getting it out of the way of the ice, and many gasoline and houseboats were pulled up on the shore. Several shantyboats were caught in the ice flow and carried rapidly down the river some being dashed to pieces and others going on down stream.

Soon after the ice gorge broke the water began to fall at all points above the gorge, and at this point the fall was noticeable. Many men are at work on the river craft, moving it down with the water. The news of the breaking of the gorge was received here soon after it occurred, and was the occasion of much rejoicing among rivermen.

At 11 o'clock advices from Brandenburg stated that the gorge had moved past that place and no damage had been done save the carrying away of the wharfboat and a barge belonging to the Kosmos Cement company. The river was clear at that point at that hour, and was falling with great rapidity. Every feature of the situation pointed to the possibility of the lower reaches of the river coming through the stress of the past week with little loss.

Brandenburg still has to expect the passage of the Rockhaven ice, and that from the Kosmosdale gorge, but with the river falling and the gorges breaking, it will mean nothing but the passage of a moderate river covered with ice.

HERBERT.

Jan. 18.—Mr. George Johnson has moved to Mr. Ed Balze's farm near Aetnaville, and Mr. Balze has moved to the Dr. John B. Huff place, near Herbert.

Mrs. J. B. Huff has moved into part of Mr. William Ford's house.

REBELS CONTROL MINE CONVENTION.

President Lewis Overruled by Insurgents on Floor of Meeting.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 19.—The insurrectionists took charge of the convention of the United Mine Workers of America at the opening of today's session, and despite the efforts of President Lewis, the rules were suspended and a motion by Frank J. Hayes, of Illinois that national organizers' salaries should be cut off during their attendance here as delegates was considered. Hayes was supported by William Green, of Ohio and the convention was thrown into an uproar by the contest between its two elements.

Charles Gilday, of Hazelton, Pa., a national organizer, in a heated speech denied that he had been brought in from his field work to do the bidding of President Lewis in the convention or that, so far as he knew, an effort had been made by the Lewis administration to "pack" the convention.

"We might as well thresh out this filibustering now as later," at length announced President Lewis, and he made no further resistance to the discussion on Hayes' motion. Hayes declared that the national organizers were neglecting their duties, and that the United Mine Workers were not progressing with the campaign of organization as they should.

Green, who was Lewis' opponent in the election for the presidency, spoke as an advocate of "disfranchisement," as against Lewis' declared theory that the national organization has supreme authority.

"If a national organizer comes into this convention as a delegate, from a local union," said Green, "he should be reimbursed for his expenses here by his local union, and he should not draw his salary from the national treasury while he is here."

Sues For Her Lost Appendix.

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 19.—Alleging that her appendix was removed without her knowledge or consent, Miss Lillian Robothan has sued Dr. Arthur C. Stokes, one of the leading surgeons of Omaha, for $25,000 damages.

In her petition Miss Robothan charges that last May she visited Dr. Stokes with reference to treatment for varicose veins and after an examination the doctor told her that she had appendicitis and that an operation would be necessary. Plaintiff says she did not believe that anything was wrong with her appendix and told the doctor so. Later she went to the Swedish hospital for the purpose of having the doctor operate on the varicose veins. She alleges that not only was the varicose vein removed, but also her appendix, well, sound and in perfect condition.

WALSH GOES TO PENITENTIARY.

Two Years Fight For Freedom Ends.

Man Who Started as Newsboy And Became a Millionaire.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—John R. Walsh, seventy-two years old, who began his business career as a newsboy and later controlled millions in banks, railroads, newspapers and coal fields, left for the Federal prison at Leavenworth, Kansas, at 6 o'clock Tuesday night to begin a five-year sentence for misapplying the funds of the Chicago National Bank, of which he had been President.

His journey followed a denial by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals to his petition for a new trial on the ground of alleged misconduct of the jurors who found him guilty.

While Mr. Walsh was on his way to Leavenworth, in charge of United States Marshal Thomas Middleton, a life long friend, and accompanied by John W. Walsh, his son, and Lee Babcock and Dr. L. Blake Baldwin, his son-in-law, and Attorney E. C. Risher, his financial counsel, a rumor was circulated that a desperate effort would be made to get the prisoner off the train by a habeas corpus proceeding.

It was reported that Judge A. L. Sanborn, of the United States District Court, had been summoned from Madison, Wis., to obtain a writ from him.

The ground on which the writ might be asked was not revealed, but it was reported that the allegation would be made that other than members of the grand jury were present in the jury room when Walsh was convicted.

Walsh was hurried in an automobile to his home to bid his wife good-bye and then taken to the station.

Judge Sanborn arrived in Chicago at 9 o'clock tonight. He said he had heard that a writ of habeas corpus might be asked for, but he had not been asked to issue it.

John S. Miller, chief counsel for Mr. Walsh, said he had heard nothing of such proceeding.

FOR THE BUSY READER.

J. Horace MacFarland, president of the American Civic Association, made a plea for State legislation to promote public control of privately owned forests before the conference on uniform State legislation in Washington.

The one hundred and third birthday of Gen. Robert E. Lee was celebrated throughout the South Wednesday. Being a legal holiday in a number of States, it was attended with a partial suspension of business activities.

Governors from thirty States of the union met in the National Capital to discuss problems of State and of national interest today. Gov. Willson, of Kentucky, chairman of the committee on arrangements for the conference, was in the chair.

Paulhan won a $10,000 prize by a forty-six mile cross-country flight at Los Angeles. He was in the air one hour and three minutes. At one time Paulhan gained an altitude of 2,130 feet. This established a new world's record for cross-country flights.

News received at the State Department from Consul Olivares at Managua, Nicaragua, confirms the newspaper report that President Madriz is taking active measures to bring to justice the persons responsible for the killing of the Americans, Cannon and Groce.

The balance of the money received for the 1906 and 1907 pools of the Burley Tobacco Society, about $300,000, will be taken from Winchester, Lexington, the time for asking a rehearing in the receivership case.

brought by Clark county growers having expired.

Charges affecting the Burley Tobacco Society are to be ventilated before Attorney General Wickersham and Wade H. Ellis, assistant to the Attorney General, at the Department of Justice today. The committee from the organization will present their side of the case to Mr. Wickersham, and hope to have the threatened prosecution abandoned.

AETNAVILLE.

Jan. 19.—Messrs. Noah Balze and Amby Haynes attended church at Haynesville Sunday.

Mr. Cleve Loyd and family were the guests of Mr. Arthur Ford and family of Herbert, Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Walter Harrison, Reynolds, entertained the Ladies Mission Circle Saturday afternoon.

Miss Lois Harrison and Mr. Walden Haynes and family of Haynesville, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Vee Whitely Sunday.

The school at this place is progressing nicely with Mrs. J. H. Loyd as teacher. There are five more weeks of school.

Mr. — Kirkald and wife, of Eldorado, Ill., are the guests of Mr. Cicero Bowman and family.

PROPOSITION TO CHANGE COURT DATES.

Bill Introduced in Legislature for That Purpose—Should not Become Law.

We understand a bill has been introduced in the Kentucky Legislature to change the dates of holding Circuit Courts in Ohio county from a three weeks term beginning the first Monday in March, a two weeks term beginning the third Monday in May, a three weeks term beginning the first Monday in August and a two weeks term beginning the third Monday in November, to a three weeks term beginning the first Monday in February, a two weeks term beginning the third Monday in April, a three weeks term beginning the second Monday in June and a two weeks term beginning the third Monday in October. We see no reason for this change and know of no good that would result therefrom. The dates as now fixed interfere less with the work of the farmers, who generally constitute the jury, than the proposed arrangement. May being practically the only term which interferes. As proposed, the April, June and the October terms will come at corn planting, corn plowing and wheat sowing time.

We are at a total loss to know who would be benefited by this change. Everybody is familiar with, and accustomed to the dates as now fixed and they are more equally distributed throughout the year than the dates proposed in the bill introduced in the Legislature. The proposed law would give us two courts in the first four months of the year, while the eight last months of the year would have only two. We think this inequality of time in itself would be sufficient reason for the defeat of the measure, besides the confusion that would be caused by the changing of the dates as proposed.

BALD KNOB.

Jan. 19.—Rev. Harper filled his regular appointment here Sunday.

Mr. L. D. Taylor, Mrs. Sude Taylor and daughter, Emulous, spent last Sunday at Mrs. Rafferty's, of Mt. Pleasant.

Mrs. Sude Taylor and daughter, Emulous, spent Tuesday evening at Mr. E. P. Sandefur's.

Mr. Courtlan Taylor, of Mt. Pleasant spent Saturday night with his aunt, Mrs. P. Porter, of Cromwell.

Mr. Leslie Sandefur and sister, Harriet, visited their brother, Mr. A. E. Sandefur, of Cromwell, Saturday night and Sunday.

Mrs. Ella Taylor who has been on the sick list for some time is able to be up again.

Mt. Pleasant Lodge No. 1772, will meet at that place next Saturday evening at 7:30 p. m. and wants all the members present. We have a new plan to build up an interest of a new program.

PROSPEROUS YEAR FOR FARMERS.

Though Not as Good as Last Year.

President Talks Earnestly With Members of Congress Relative to Petty Disputes.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 15.—A picture which reflects the prosperity of the country, and especially that of the farmer, is drawn in the statement of domestic exports for 1909 prepared by the Bureau of Statistics of the Department of Commerce and Labor. Corn at 70 cents a bushel, wheat at $1.04 cents and about 12 cents for every pound of cotton exported is the record. More than $24,000,000 worth of corn and $18,000,000 worth of wheat went from American ports to feed the world last year. More than $400,000,000 worth of cotton went to foreign looms and as these figures show only the exports from the principal ports, the detailed statements will be larger. While there are some decreases from 1908 the showing on the whole is entirely satisfactory.

A decided change of policy has been adopted by the Rivers and Harbors committee of the House. Hereafter an annual Rivers and Harbors appropriation bill will be prepared by the committee from estimates submitted at the beginning of each session. It has been the practice of the committee since 1882 to draft a Rivers and Harbors bill every other year and at times three years have intervened between bills. The committee is at work on a measure which will authorize the expenditure of about $3,000,000. The last bill was passed at the close of the 60th Congress and carried $75,000,000.

President Taft is talking earnestly and frankly to members of Congress, both regulars and insurgents, pointing out to them the folly of their course in permitting controversies of a personal nature to retard legislation, create the impression in the public mind that the national legislature is devoting most of its time to fighting and thus menacing Republican success next November. The President takes the ground that a large part of the existing strife is purely to those who have insisted on the importance of eliminating Cannonism. Mr. Taft has pointed out that their aim can be best achieved by a sincere and earnest campaign and can in nowise be promoted by petty warfare. A victory over Cannon when there is something at stake, as for instance legislation recommended by the administration, he has pointed out, would mean a great deal. Mr. Taft has also admonished the regular Republicans not to go about with chips on their shoulders seeking occasions to make things unpleasant for the insurgents. He has not hesitated to voice his contempt for some of the methods adopted but he is disposed to believe that as the work of the session advances and members have really important affairs to occupy their minds they will abandon their factional bickering and devote themselves earnestly to serious work.

There is a disposition in administrative and political circles in Washington not to view national conferences and conventions, other than political, with great regard to the National Conference on Uniform State Legislation which will meet here on January 17, 18 and 19 is an exception to the rule. The number of highly important subjects which this conference is to discuss, the ability and character of the men who will participate in the discussions and the wide representative tone of the conference itself all lend to the belief that genuinely important results may be effected. The President has already begun work on the address which he will deliver and a long list of important Speakers has been secured.

Representative Lamb of Virginia has introduced a bill providing that $300,000 be paid by the government to Colonel Robert E. Lee Jr., administrator de bonis non of George Washington's estate, for the alleged loss of land in Arlington and Clermont counties, Ohio, which originally belonged to the first President. There can be no doubt that some difficulty will be experienced by Mr. Lamb in obtaining the passage of the bill but an even more difficult task would await the administrators of the claim should they be called upon to find the rightful heirs of General Washington. The claim of Colonel Lee rests on the following basis: Lord Denmore of Virginia issued a land warrant to John Rootes in 1763 which was bought from him by General Washington. Later the legislature of Virginia passed a joint resolution which provided that all persons who served in the army and held land warrants might exchange them for warrants which would permit them to locate on the vacant lands reserved on the western side of the Ohio river for officers and soldiers of the Continental army. General Washington is said to have obtained 3,051 acres in this manner. According to Col. Lee the surveys were confirmed by Congress but later a deputy surveyor from Virginia made three entries completely covering the locations which General Washington had chosen. Other persons bought the land and Col. Lee now comes to Congress for recompense. The matter has been under consideration in Congress before and its publicity has resulted in greatly increasing the number of persons who claim to be living heirs of General Washington. Col. Lee has received dozens of letters from near relatives of Washington and he views with great trepidation the passage of the bill. It was referred to the committee on Claims.

All prospect of Congress taking action which will result in the recognition of the belligerency of the Estrada government was removed when the Foreign Affairs committee of the House tabled the sulzer resolution providing for such action. The House believes that Secretary Knox is entirely capable of meeting any diplomatic emergency.

Educational Department.

Psychology is the science of mind and its business is to educate the mind and influence its growth. Psychology sustains the same relation to them and its education as anatomy, physiology, and pharmacy sustains to the practice of medicine.

The methods of studying mind are: Introspection which is an observation of self by self; the observational and comparative which observes and compares the things seen; the laboratory which is closely related to physiological physiology, which is, after all, only physiology; and the class room method which consists of daily experiments in the class-room.

Mind is that force which manifests itself, through organization of nerve substance, in knowing, feeling, willing. Mind seems to have both inertia and momentum. It is inertia when not in use and momentum when in use. Sometimes, owing to bodily weakness or disease, or to an inertness of its own, the mind must be driven to its work; and it is equally hard when the mind is momentum, i. e. fully occupied on some line of thought to check its activity and direct it to some other subject.

Consciousness is that state or condition in which the mind knowingly performs its tasks. Self-consciousness is that state in which the mind identifies acts or conditions as being its own and by which it knows that it is the same mind all the time. Unconsciousness is the condition in which the mind is not aware of outward conditions and surroundings. In the sub-conscious mind where they may be called for at any time.

The mind of the child is much more impressionable than the mind of an adult. Therefore, the time to lay foundations for a strong, normal personality is while the child is still young and the mind yet in plastic stage. In the adult, age has hardened and dulled the faculties and the results to be attained through training these minds, cannot be expected to be crowned with the same success in the latter as in the former.

Attention is a condition of the mind in which the energy of one or more faculties is directed to the consideration of an object of sense or of thought. In involuntary attention the will directs the faculties to that object which is to be considered, but in involuntary attention the mind is drawn by interest; and in expectant attention the mind dwells upon something that is expected, and that is feared or desired. All attention is due to interest. Doubtless few tasks are ever performed unless by so doing some desired knowledge of interest is to be attained.

Habits are the result of repetition. Habit is defined at that condition of mind or body which is manifested in a tendency to unconscious repetition of acts or states. Walking is a physical habit, close observation, clear thinking, accurate memory, are intellectual habits. Habits of inaccuracy are not immoral unless practiced from a desire to deceive others, in which case they may be considered as lies.

That power by which mind is enabled to reproduce its former states is called memory. The functions of memory are to retain and reproduce. The verbal memory is especially valued for the readiness with which it reproduces words and their combinations. A verbal memory will readily commit and reproduce the exact word of a definition, rule, poem, or a passage in history, and to memorize is easier than to understand, for the memory is made to do the work of thinking faculty. A logical memory finds it difficult to hold the exact words in which a thought is expressed, but the thought itself is easily retained and is recalled without difficulty. The logical memory must understand what is read in order to remember it. Memory is classed as voluntary and involuntary. Involuntary memory is called remembrance and voluntary memory is called recollection. The mind acquires, retains, and correlates. With the representative faculties it acquires, and with the representative it retains and recalls, and with the judgment it correlates.

Imagination aids memory: memory reproduces; imagination modifies, combines and creates. It modifies by making slight changes in an idea without altering its essential form or character. It combines by putting two or more percepts or concepts together to produce something different from them; and in its highest form this combination is creation. Practical imagination is modifying and combining facts that will produce ideas slightly different from what the mind is accustomed to. The typewriter gives an illustration of an inventive imagination, no possessing this imagination can see the completed machine long before a model has been constructed. The creative imagination forms new thought out of old ones.

Assimilation means self-building, and includes those processes which produce character. Conception is the acquisition, or acquiring, of general ideas. Reasoning is that process by which we reach conclusions. The will not only makes character, but is character. The will is what we are intellectually and morally. Psychology shows affect of study on different faculties of mind and is a help from kindergarten study to university.

For Sprains

Sloan's Liniment is the best remedy for sprains and bruises.

It quiets the pain at once, and can be applied to the tenderest part without hurting because it doesn't need to be rubbed—all you have to do is to lay it on lightly. It is a powerful preparation and penetrates instantly—relieves any inflammation and congestion, and reduces the swelling.

Here's the Proof.

Mr. L. ROLAND, Bishop of Scranton, Pa. says:—"On the 7th of this present month, as I was leaving the building at noon for lunch, I slipped and fell, spraining my wrist. I returned in the afternoon, and at four o'clock I could not hold a pencil in my hand. I returned home later and purchased a bottle of

Honored by Women

When a woman speaks of her silent secret suffering she trusts you. Millions have bestowed this mark of confidence on Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. Everywhere there are women who bear witness to the wonder-working, curing-power of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—which saves the suffering sex from pain, and successfully grapples with women's weaknesses and stubborn ills.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG
IT MAKES SICK WOMEN WELL.

No woman's appeal was ever misdirected or her confidence misplaced when she wrote for advice, to the WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Dr. R. V. Pierce, President, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets induce mild natural bowel movement once a day.

GRAPHIC REPRESENTATION OF THE INFLUENCE OF THE WESTERN KENTUCKY STATE NORMAL SCHOOL

For every dot shown on the above map, a student-teacher has entered the State Normal at Bowling Green since January 22, 1907. No one student is counted twice. The dots also show the number of students from each county. Multiply the number of dots representing the number of student-teachers who have attended from each county, by 70, the average number of common children in each school district, and then draw your own conclusions as to the value of the educational service the Western Normal is rendering the Commonwealth of Kentucky. A conservative estimate shows that 100,000 different children of Kentucky have been taught, or are now being taught, by the student-teachers who have attended the Western Normal since it was formally launched as a State institution, January 22, 1907, a little more than two and one-half years ago. Fully eighty-five (85) per cent of these children live in the rural districts of Kentucky. A glance at the map will convince anyone that the school is reaching the masses. Kentucky is to be congratulated upon the establishment of this great institution that is maintained in the interest of the boys and girls of Kentucky. It is doing a great work for Western Kentucky and richly deserves the earnest support of the citizenship of our Commonwealth.

Big Value in Reed Rocker

Strong, well made, hardwood frame, excellent quality hand woven reed. Every chair carefully inspected before leaving factory. This chair has large, roomy seat and is well braced. Heavy arm rolls. This chair is made in one of the largest factories in the country.

In Preparing for this it has been our fixed purpose to move all this season's goods from our shelves. We must have room for new stock. Our store policy forbids us to carry over seasonable merchandise. It is not a matter of profit. We must carry out the purpose of this clearing Sale. Our prices have been cut below cost in order to positively assure a quick and general clearance. We must sell the goods and our selling figures have been reduced in proportion to the urgency of our needs.

This means a grand saving for you on a wide range of merchandies. Our necessity enables you to secure a big lot of seasonable goods at lower prices than ever before.

There is bound to be a rush for these splendid values. Come early. These prices prevail while the goods last. Thanking the public for the business given us in 1909 and thanking you in advance for your business through the year of 1910, believe us to be your friends,

FRIDAY, JANUARY 21.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

We are authorized to announce Hon. Ben Johnson a candidate for re-election to the office of Representative in Congress from the Fourth Kentucky District, subject to the Democratic primary election to be held March 12, 1910.

"Pinchot is not a politician" says a contemporary. That remains to be seen.

Those dull thuds you hear are the various clubs putting Dr. Cook on the bumps.

There are plenty of big sticks in the woods where the Pinchot club came from.

It will be admitted that this is what has been heretofore known as an old fashioned winter.

The weather man has been doing all in his power to make this country seem home like to Mr. Peary.

There is room for 2000 people in the Federal prison, at Atlanta, Georgia, yet the Tobacco Trust, Meat Trust and Sugar Trust are still at large.

If the tariff law is to blame for the high cost of living, why didn't it take effect during the McKinley and Dingley laws, under which the schedules were much higher than the, are under the present law?

The Louisville Evening Post has never forgiven Senator Bradley for defeating J. C. W. Beckham for United States Senator and of course it cannot brook the idea of Senator Bradley naming men to Federal appointments in Kentucky.

Congress has amended the Constitution of the United States so as to provide for an income tax, and it is now up to the States to ratify that amendment which becomes a part of our Constitution as soon as it shall have been ratified by three fourths of the states. It is believed that the amendment will be ratified by practically all of them.

The Legislature at Frankfort has gone the limit in creating new offices. Four assistant door keepers have been created for the House of Representatives. About fifteen new pages and extra offices for the Senate and the combined salaries of these extra officers, which have heretofore been gotten along without, amounts to about sixty dollars a day. This is the way the Democratic Legislature increases the indebtedness of the state and yet would have the people believe that it is caused by the Republican State officials.

The "pure food law" is designed by the Government to protect the public from injurious ingredients in both foods and drugs. It is beneficial both to the public and to the conscientious manufacturer. Ely's Cream Balm, a successful remedy for cold in the head, nasal catarrh, hay fever, etc., containing no injurious drugs, meets fully the requirements of the new law, and that fact is prominently stated on every package. It contains none of the injurious drugs which are required by the law to be mentioned on the label, hence you can use it safely.

Dick Knott, editor of the Evening Post, has fallen out with his friend President Taft whose name he kept at the head of his editorial column so long as his candidate for President, in connection with the name of J. C. Beckham, his candidate for United States Senator, because his advice has not been followed in the Federal appointments in Kentucky. It was ever thus. When the editor of the Evening Post fails to boss the whole hen roost, he refuses to play and nobody is any good whatever, no matter how high he may have stood in Dick's regard heretofore. President Taft is a very bad man and so also is Postmaster General Hitchcock, who when he was selecting delegates to the National Convention in the interest of Mr. Taft, the Evening Post thought to be one of the brightest and most promising young men of the Nation.

A bill has been introduced in the Legislature to deprive the Republicans of the office of City Attorney in Louisville and his assistants. The present City Attorney was appointed last summer by Mayor Grinstead after allowing the Democratic City Attorney to serve out his full term of four years. The Louisville Times heads its dispatch telling about this bill in the following gleeful manner: "Ripping Bill Puts Rollers Under the City Hall Republicans Left." It is proposed to abolish the City Attorney and call it the office of corporation Council, but of course the only real change contemplated is the displacement of a Republican and the appointment of a Democrat to a $5,000 job. We presume the members of the Grinstead administration will take notice that they are getting full pay for the manner in which they appointed and kept an office Democrat while the Republicans were in power.

An effort is being made upon the part of the Eastern Money interests to throw the blame for the high prices for the necessities of life upon the farmers, thus shielding the speculators and middle men. It is a well known fact that the farmers have been getting no more than a fair price for the products of the farm and often prices which were not half adequate considering the cost of production and capital invested. The blame for the extraordinary high prices for the necessities of life which the consumer is compelled to pay should be placed where it properly belongs. Upon the speculators and the men of enormous wealth who buy up these supplies and hold them at exorbitant prices. If the national government desires to find work for the department of justice, it can expend a great deal of force before it gets down to the farmer's organization. It should begin its investigations and prosecutions at the proper place.

In Spite of High Prices.

If the tariff were lowered in order to compel producers to lower the cost of the necessities grown and made in this country, wages would come down to the level of the wages paid in foreign countries where the same class of goods is produced. There is no getting away from that fact. Fortunately the Tariff-Protected American workman is able to command wages that enable him to live much better than the average European workman and besides lay up some of his earnings for a rainy day. The amount of money invested in property by the working class shows very plainly that the full dinner pail and prosperity are in evidence in spite of the so-called high prices.—Wilkes-Barre Record.

COMPENSATION FOR ENUMERATORS.

Census Director Durand Fixes Pay For Classes.

Will Range From Five to Six Dollars Per Day in Rural Districts.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22.—The varying wage scales in different parts of the country and the differences in the nature and extent of the local difficulties confronting the enumerators in the larger geographical divisions of the United States have influenced and guided United States Census Director Durand in the adoption of a classification of enumerators' rates of compensation, within the limits prescribed by the United States Census law enacted by Congress.

The different classes of rates will be so applied that in general the average enumerator will earn substantially the same amount in one district as in another, with other conditions also different. Regard is paid to the fact that prevailing wages and salaries are higher in some parts of the country than others, but, aside from this, the Director's aim is to adjust the rates so as to make the earnings of enumerators substantially uniform. Where the per capita rates would not give sufficient pay, the per diem rates are prescribed. The rates in general will be so adjusted as to give a slightly higher average amount to the enumerators than they received in 1900.

Per diem rates of pay will be paid to the census enumerators in the sparsely settled rural districts of Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Texas, Utah, Washington, and Wyoming.

The rate will range from $5 to $6 per day for the enumeration of the rural areas outside of cities and towns. Six dollars is the highest rate authorized by law.

The Director realizes that in many districts of the far West it will be impossible to secure competent men to act as enumerators at a rate of compensation less than that being paid for ordinary classes of work in the same area. Where enumerators in such districts paid only on the per capita basis, their compensation would be unreasonably low.

The enumerators in the thinly inhabited country sections of North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, and Kansas also will be compensated on a per diem basis. Certain difficult or sparsely settled enumeration districts in other states will be included among those to which the per diem rates will apply, as the conditions of the enumeration will be such that an enumerator could not make fair earnings at any of the per capita rates established.

This announcement was made by Census Director Durand today, in order to counteract the deterrent effect upon applications for enumerators' places in the far West and Southwest states of the widely circulated and erroneous statement that per capita rates of pay were to be given in the sparsely populated regions named.

In this connection the Director has issued to the census supervisors a detailed statement of the classification of rates adopted for the compensation of enumerators in the Thirtieth Census, commencing April 15 next.

There are three general rates—the per capita, the mixed, and the per diem.

The first and second general rates have five subdivisions each. The per diem rates range from $3 to $3.50, $4, $4.50, $5, $5.50, and $6, and are to be paid for a day of eight hours' work.

For enumerators on the per capita basis, which will be that most widely used, the pay for each inhabitant is: Class A, 2 cents; class B, 2 1-2 cents; class C, 3 cents; class D, 3 1-2 cents, and class E, 4 cents. Such enumerators will also be paid for each farm as follows: Class A, 20 cents; class B, 22 1-2 cents; class C, 25 cents; class D, 27 1-2 cents; and class E, 30 cents. These rates are in each case 5 cents or more higher than those paid in 1900, when the range was from 15 to 20 cents. For each establishment of productive industry the rate for each class is 30 cents. For each barn and inclosure containing live stock, not on farms, the pay is 10 cents for each class.

Under the mixed rate, which is a combination of the per capita and the per diem, there are five subclasses alphabetically arranged, and the per diem is: Class F, $1; G, $1.25; H, $1.50; I, $1.75, and J, $2. For each inhabitant is: Class F, 2 cents; -G, 2 1-2 cents; H, 2 1-2 cents; I, 2 1-2 cents, and J, 3 cents. For each farm: Class F, 15 cents; G, 17 1-2 cents; H, 17 1-2 cents; I, and J, 20 cents each. For each establishment of productive industry the rate is 20 cents for each class.

ARNOLD.

Jan. 19.—The mail has been delayed several days on account of the ice in Green River and high water in Caney Creek.

Born to the wife of Willie Hill, on the 12th inst., a fine boy. Mother and child doing well. Mr. Hill is all smiles.

Miss Arleva Coy is on the sick list.

There will be work in the First Degree on the 4th Friday night in this month. All members should be present.

CEDAR GROVE.

Jan. 18.—Health is good in this community.

Mr. Alec Gilmore left Saturday for New Mexico, where he will make his future home.

Quarterly meeting will be held at the M. E. Church here Friday and Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lige Hoover, Friedland and Miss Mercedes Cahon, of Sulphur Springs, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Johnston Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Ava Acton will leave Saturday for Bowling Green, where she will enter school.

Mr. Mose Gentry, of Shreve, visited Miss Verna Magan Sunday.

Farmers have about delivered all their tobacco.

MANDA.

Jan. 18.—The Select school opened yesterday under the management of Prof. H. C. Crowder, with good attendance. We predict a good school as we have both faculty and brains to make it such.

Mr. James Arnold, of Arnold, was here yesterday making arrangements to send his son to school.

Mr. Tom Cox, of Rosine was here yesterday.

Health in this vicinity is good this winter.

Delivering tobacco is the order of business here now as we have a good season and plenty of mud. We like the new plan of working the roads fine.

CONFESSION BY RAY LAMPHERE

Fixes The Blame of Numerous Murders

Of Mrs. Gunness Charnal House

—And Complains of Scant Pay.

Ray Lamphere, who died recently in the Indiana penitentiary at Michigan City, while serving a term for setting fire to the home of Mrs. Belle Gunness near LaPorte, Ind., did not carry the secrets of the Gunness charnal farm to the tomb with him, according to a copyright story in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. When he believed death near, he confessed.

The confession was made to the Rev. Dr. E. A. Schell, formerly pastor of the La Porte Methodist church, now president of the Iowan Wesleyan University, at Mount Pleasant, Ia., and held by him inviolate as a secret of the confessional. The Post-Dispatch, however, says the Rev. Mr. Schell would verify, if he would consent to break the silence, the confession it publishes. The Post-Dispatch, however, says the confession it publishes was made to a man of unsalable character.

Lamphere, according to the confession, had guilty knowledge of the murder of three men in the Gunness home during the time he lived there, about eight months in 1907, and he assisted Mrs. Gunness in disposing of the bodies of three men.

He said he thought he had not received as much of the profits of the transaction as he considered himself entitled to and he went to the farmhouse at night with a woman, chloroformed Mrs. Gunness and her three children and Jennie Olsen. He and the woman then searched the house, finding between $40 and $70. The light they used was a candle and they left the house without knowing they had left behind a spark that soon burst into flames.

Mrs. Gunness' method of killing her victims, Lamphere said, was first to chloroform them as they slept and then, if the drug did not itself kill, to sever the heads with an ax. Each time a man was to be murdered, according to Lamphere, she sent him to purchase chloroform. Lamphere said he saw one of the men killed and aided in burying all three. These men were Andrew Telgelein and probably Ole Budsburg and Tonness Pettersen Lien.

Peruna Secrets You Should Know

Golden Seal, the root of the above plant, is a very useful medicine. Many people gather it in our rich woodlands during the summer. Few people know how valuable it is in dyspepsia, catarrh, and as a general tonic. Many thousand pounds of this root are used each year in the famous catarrh remedy, Peruna. This fact explains why everybody uses Peruna for catarrh.

Jean Audry Frozen to Death.

Jean Audry, known throughout Kentucky and Southern Indiana as the woman who rode a pony and was followed by a pack of dogs, and who has been a visitor upon several occasions in various Kentucky towns, is dead, having frozen to death at Bardwell, Ky., a short time ago.

The little woman, probably one of the most peculiar that ever lived, had been seen by many people in different counties. She traveled from town to town on her pony, followed by a large pack of dogs. She slept in the open, refusing shelter offered at times to her.

She usually secured the sympathy of people wherever she went and money and provisions were furnished her. She was arrested several times and had many narrow escapes from death. She told many stories of her life when crowds would gather about her.

DEATH HOUSE NOT WANTED

At The Frankfort Penitentiary.

Prison Officials Think it Should Be At The Eddyville Branch.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 20.—Where to locate the death house which is provided for in a bill introduced in the Senate by Senator Newcomb is a problem in which the officials of the Frankfort penitentiary are much interested. Under Senator Newcomb's bill $7,500 is appropriated for the erection of a death house in which a convicted man is to be confined for a certain period before being put to death. The law changes the method of execution of the death sentence from hanging to electrocution and provides that all legal executions shall take place in the penitentiary.

Objections to have the executions in the penitentiary here are numerous, the prison officials say, and they would prefer to have the electric chair located at the Eddyville prison. The main argument used is that there is no room in the prison here and that a new building, to be used as the death house could not be erected for $7,500 and the electrical equipment installed. The appropriation would have to be more than that, one of the prison officials says. He says the death house in New York cost $30,000. Dr. Joe Barr, prison physician, said, regarding the plan to have the legal executions here, electricity, instead of hanging:

"If the chair is located here a new building will have to be erected and the space in the walls here is almost entirely taken up now by buildings. We are crowded and would not have room, unless the Legislature appropriates money to extend the stockade and enlarge the prison. A death house should be isolated so that it can be quiet and the condemned man can spend his last days undisturbed by the noise from the other convicts. To give the condemned men quiet it will be necessary to have a separate building, erected far from the cell house. Another thing. We have ten visitors here to one at Eddyville and every person who visited the prison here would want to see the chair in which men are killed. At Eddyville there would be few visitors and the showing of the death chair would not be so much trouble."

If the plan proposed, of having only hardened criminals confined in the prison here and making a reformatory out of the Eddyville prison goes through, as seems probable, the death chair will, from necessity, be located in Frankfort and if a new cell house is built the objections of Dr. Barr will be obviated.

Why Children "Fidget."
Fidgets provoke wrath from thoughtless grownups. Often one hears an angry fool shouting: "Why can't you sit still?" but the child can't sit still; nature will not let it, but is stimulating it through its nerves to make it grow. The fidget arises from lack of proper play or employment. Supply this or divert the attention to something interesting and the nerve centers will have work to do, the growing need is satisfied and the fidget stopped.

DEATH OF PROM- INENT WOMAN.

Mrs. Emily McHenry Hale
Dies after Long Illness.

The Owensboro Messenger yesterday announced the death of Mrs. Emily Hale, who was an aunt of Mrs. Maggie Griffin, of this place and a sister of the late Hon. H. D. McHenry. The Messenger says:

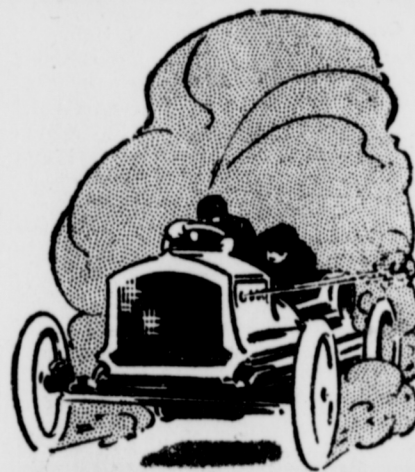

"Mrs. Emily McHenry Hale, one of the most prominent women of Daviess county and the widow of the late Dr. J. A. Hale of Owensboro, died of a complication of diseases at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening at the home of her sister, Mrs. Robert Craig, in the Ensor neighborhood. Mrs. Hale had been ill for some time past, being unable to leave her bed since last spring. Her death was not unexpected. Mrs. Hale was seventy-six years of age, and had been a resident of this county for many years. She was born in Hartford, Ky., in her girlhood she was a belle in Owensboro society.

Mrs. Hale was a most lovable woman and had many friends throughout the city and county. She was a member of the Methodist church.

OHIO COUNTY BOY RETURNS.

After Trip Around The World.

Stephen Maxwell Taylor is Welcomed by Old Friends and Relatives.

Cromwell, Ky., Jan. 11.—It is said that truth is stronger than fiction. Twenty-four years ago a beardless youth of this vicinity bid adieu to parents and friends and proceeded to the great west to make his home with a people both strange and unknown to him. Settling down for a short time in the state of Kansas. Then with a desire to see something of the world, became a wanderer.

First one thing and then another, finally he became Deputy U. S. Marshal, serving a term of four years and during the term was sent to Australia after a convict. Then with a desire to see more than he had seen started on a pilgrimage around the world and incidentally visited the holy land, was at the antiquated spot John baptised in the river Jordan. Thence to the "holy city". In about one year thereafter he swung through the golden gate to the city of San Francisco back to the land where the stars and stripes wave over the land of the free, and the home of the brave.

Such has been the career of Stephen Maxwell Taylor, son of R. W. and Pendergast Taylor, who left here twenty-four years ago. He has been with a Kansas City firm, as traveling salesman for seven years and still holds the position at a salary of $146. per month. Yes twenty-four years is a long time. The beloved father had passed away. He found his mother aged and infirm. O; who can know what she felt while holding her lost boy in her embrace. O; who can tell the filial love of a sister when suddenly she turned her gaze upon her long lost brother.

This home-coming brought a thrill of joy to all the neighbors and friends. Arriving at his mother's Dec. 26th, he was invited by his cousin, Byron Taylor and family to their home on Monday, Dec. 27th, where a feast was spread for their neighbors and friends as well. He was invited from there by the gallant, E. W. Jackson and mother to an entertainment at their residence on Wednesday, Dec. 29th, which day was bleak and cold, but not withstanding that, quite a number of people assembled and were entertained with the choicest music on the graphophone to say nothing of the table that was laden with everything that would tempt the appetite of an epicure. Then after all else was done, all hands and the cook were marched out in the yard, where Mr. Jackson proceeded to photograph all present. But when the time of separation came (and it came all too soon) it was understood that when we left Mr. Jackson's our next meeting place would be J. W. Cox's, the stepfather of Maxwell Taylor, the thirteenth of Dec., when the same jolly crowd met and was feasted by the mother and stepfather. All had another grand day. We adjourned from there to meet at his brother-in-law's, S. L. Stevens, on Monday, January the third.

In spite of the inclemency of the weather there were only twenty-seven assembled with Bro. Stevens. As the guests arrived they were greeted by Master Glendon, his son, and accomplished daughter, Miss Orpha, who did everything to make the day pleasant as well as profitable. Then upon motion it was decided to meet at the Hon. C. S. Taylor's, Tuesday, Jan. the fourth, who is Stephen Taylor's only living uncle. Quite a number gathered and after spending the morning in games and fun, all were invited out to a bountiful repast by the aunt, Mrs. C. S. Taylor. The afternoon was passed by young Taylor in giving the ludicrous accounts of himself when a boy.

This was the last day of the festivities on account of his having a time ticket, and must return back to Kansas City from whence he came. But everything however joyful, or sad must end. After the goodbyes were said, each returned to his own home feeling in his own soul that sadness and pleasure is badly mixed here, on earth. T. E. T.

LIFE SENTENCE FOR CLAY SMITH.

Tragedy That Shocked All
Muhlenberg Co.

Daughter of Dead Man Who was Ruined by Smith Also Indicted.

Greenville, Ky., Jan. 14.—Clay Smith, aged twenty-six, was today sentenced to a life imprisonment in the penitentiary, for the murder of his father-in-law, Mose Kimmell, aged sixty, the jury returning a verdict at 10:45 o'clock this morning, after having considered the case since 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Smith, who had been in jail at Greenville, was removed to Madisonville this afternoon until the case is settled, as the attorneys for the defense announced that an appeal would be taken. The officials removed the prisoner on account of the feeling against him.

The murder of Kimmell created great excitement in this county and Bessie Kimmell, a daughter of the murdered man and sister of Smith's wife, was indicted jointly with Smith by the grand jury, but her confession later caused her dismissal. Kimmell was murdered about 3:30 o'clock on the morning of May 17, last year while asleep in his home.

According to Bessie Kimmell, the fifteen-year-old daughter, a horrible story was told regarding the conduct of Smith. She made a confession of the entire work of Smith after she was confined in the jail for a while.

Shortly after the murder letters were found written to the girl by Smith in which he threatened her if she did not kill her father and these letters resulted in the arrest of both. The girl stated that Smith was responsible for her delicate condition and feared that her father would kill him. He then urged the girl to kill her father, claiming that it was the only way out of the affair. She refused and finally Smith told her that one of the three had to die. Falling in using the girl for his purpose he went there on the morning of May 17 and killed Kimmell.

About four years ago Smith married the sixteen-year-old daughter of Kimmell and one child was born about three years ago. A second child was born while Smith was being tried. Smith's wife is living with her father-in-law, Arnius Smith, and Bessie is living with her brother, William Kimmell at Greenville.

STARTLING INFORMATION.

Tobacco Organizations to Be Treated As Trust.

Farmers Can Organize so Strong That They Will Not Be Bothered.

The Owensboro Inquirer says:

That the tobacco organizations now existing in the Green River District as well as the Burley society will be indicted by the Government for being organizations in restraint of trade, was the startling information brought from Frankfort by S. B. Robertson, of Calhoun, State Secretary of the American Society of Equity. Mr. Robertson says that a determined fight must be made to prevent the dissolution of all the tobacco organizations.

Heretofore the Government's threats have been interpreted as having reference to the Burley society alone, but it is now claimed that the Burley society simply heads the list and Government spies have been in this vicinity secretly investigating conditions and have reported on the organizations in Daviess county and the Green river country. They are threatened with indictment for alleged violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

Secretary Robertson stated while in Owensboro Saturday that it is his opinion that an earnest attempt will be made to dissolve all the local organizations. He added that he had an interview with Congressman Campbell Cantrill, president of the A. S. of E. in Kentucky, and Mr. Cantrill stated that he had been before the United States Attorney General in an effort to prevent indictment against the Equity society, but had been informed that the Attorney General couldn't promise him anything except another hearing before action is taken.

Squire Thorne Goode, of McLean county, asserted in an open meeting Saturday that the farmers can organize themselves into such a strong organization that they will be able to shake their fists at federal prosecution, if they will do so. He states that as the bone and sinew of the land, the farmers will not be bothered if they make a determined stand.

Bond Issued for Good Roads.

Some cheering information as to the progress of the good roads movement in the South was given in an address in October last by G. Grossvenor Dawe, managing director of the Southern Commercial Congress. The speech was delivered before the Southern Appalachian Good Roads convention at Asheville, N. C., and is republished in Southern Good Roads, a magazine issued from Lexington, N. C., in the interest of highway improvement.

Mr. Dawe presented figures showing that from March to September, 1909, the Southern States had voted bond issues for road building to the amount of $17,956,000. These bond issues were distributed by States as follows: Texas, $5,000,000; Tennessee, $3,022,000; Georgia, $2,110,000; Oklahoma, $1,750,000; North Carolina, $1,640,000; Florida, $1,600,000; Virginia, $1,196,000; Alabama, $850,000; Mississippi, $310,000; Louisiana, $298,000; West Virginia, $180,000.

In the period named no amounts whatever were voted in the States of Kentucky, Arkansas, Maryland, and South Carolina. About the best that Mr. Dawe could say of Kentucky was that while there had been "a curious condition of lethargy" there was nevertheless "a stir of feeling" which produced results, and that "Kentucky has depended upon to bring about a change. The adoption of the good roads amendment at the recent election and the pending bills in the legislature for putting its provisions into effect are hopeful indications that the change will come rapidly."—Courier-Journal.

OUR INSURGENT WEAPONS.

The Tariff as a Means of Discrediting Congress and the President.

Hon. J. A. Tawney sounded a note of warning the other day that if the Republicans did not look out the Democrats would organize the next House of Representatives. Whereupon the "Pioneer Press" proceeds to have a little fun with Mr. Tawney by asking a lot of foolish questions, among which is, "Is it the Tariff?" Following that is the information that "not much else has been done by Congress since it was elected a year ago." That is the whole story. The conspiracy to discredit Mr. Taft, indicated by the Philadelphia Ledger of a few weeks ago, is thus nicely explained. It is the Tariff which is to be the bludgeon which is to accomplish this purpose and the newspapers, of the "Pioneer Press" stripe, are to be means. Every raise in price of commodities, every outward circumstance, is to be blamed on the Tariff because of all public questions it is the least understood by the people. If this is worked to a finish it is hoped it will discredit Congress and the President, and kill off the real Roosevelt policies of which the corporatized press, are so mortally afraid. If the Roosevelt policies for which Taft stands for are enacted into law there will be an end of some of the "get rich quick" methods of the Wall Street sharks. Mr. Tawney's warning is all right. If the Democrats organize the next Congress it will be a setback to the cause of the people perhaps for a century. While the "Pioneer Press" may see in it something to jest about, it is a serious business and the people should look behind the great betrayals of public interests for the real inspiration of the attacks upon Congress and Mr. Taft.—West St. Paul Times.

GOOD ADVICE FOR A. S. OF E. MEMBERS.

Beda Local's President Urges Farmers to do Their Best.

Every man owes it to himself and to the world to leave his small corner in life better than he found it. Not to accomplish this is to fail in one's duty. Therefore, aside from the rewards that follow intelligent thrift, every farmer ought to be a good farmer, having good will towards all mankind. He is a tenant by courtesy of the good Giver of all good things—the finest heritage under heaven.

To the first man was given a commission to till the garden and dress the vine, therefore to till the soil is one thing and to bring about profitable prices is another. In order to do this we should belong to one grand organization—the A. S. of E. We see very clearly what a division in the Green River district has done for the tobacco producers. While we all admit we have failed to a great extent, we have accomplished great good for the farmers.

Farmers must remember that we are the hardest people to organize and please on earth. I don't understand why good, sensible men will leave our county that we should love better than any county and join some other organization when all will admit that the A. S. of E. is the mother organization in the Green River district. The dues of this order are only $1.50 which is very small to compare with the good it has done for us. One hundred pounds of trash will pay your dues for 2 years. Now I plead with you all to join the locals, pay your dues and come in like men, for that is the only way we will win, and you know that as well as I do. Another thing you should remember, if you want your committees to handle your products in our county you should sign the pledge for tobacco, wool and stock. This ought to spur us to do our best and noblest in the year so auspiciously opening. Brethren, let us gird our loins and resolve to change better into best.

Negro Ousted From Council.
Shelbyville, Ky., Jan. 15.—The new City Council sprung a surprise last night when it ousted T. S. Baxter, the negro Councilman from the Sixth ward. Baxter had been a member of the Council for eighteen years, and numerous plans had been attempted to get rid of him. Two weeks ago an ordinance was introduced abolishing the Sixth ward, in which Baxter resides, by adding the territory to the Fourth and Fifth wards. A new Sixth ward was created from territory that was heretofore embraced in the Fourth and Fifth wards.

Last night the ordinance became effective, and when Baxter showed up at the meeting he was advised that he was no longer a member of the board. The Council then selected C. P. Hall, a prominent coal and lumberman, as the member of the board to represent the Sixth ward until the next regular election.

The Sixth ward, as it was formerly, embraced practically all the negroes in the city, and by adding it to the Fourth and Fifth wards it makes both of those wards Republican. This will be overcome, those interested claim, by changing the wards back as they were just before the election for Councilmen is held, two years hence.

Only one Boy Out of Eleven Qualifies.

Are we becoming a race of physical degenerates? asks the Evansville Courier. Chief Machinist John Reber, of the local recruiting station, spent Wednesday and part of Thursday in Owensboro, Ky., awaiting upon applicants for enlistment in the navy and returned with an emphatic affirmative answer. Eleven men he examined and found only one of the number qualified physically for service in the navy. Some had poor vision, others were under weight, one was too short and several were flat-footed. One or two combined all the defects and added still others too complicated to mention. It was not until late in the day that Edward Salmon, eighteen years old, Owensboro, Ky., applied and was found to qualify in all respects, bringing forth the single silver lining to Reber's day of clouds.

HOPPER CHOKED WITH BILLS

Kentucky Legislature Is Taking Things Easy at the Start.

MAY GET BUSY IN A FEW DAYS

No Measure Introduced as Yet Looking to Replenishing the Empty State Treasury—Bills Launched to Carry the Good Roads Amendment Into Effect—No Redistricting Proposition Likely This Session.

BY J. H. STUART.

Frankfort, Ky.—(Special).—It is a mighty hard matter to guess how much work or how little real work a legislature will do, judging by the way it starts in at the beginning of the session. The present body is taking things rather slow at the start and one would be induced to believe that but little important legislation will be enacted, but a legislature is about as uncertain as a jury, and this one may perk up in a few days and get very busy passing some of the many hundreds of bills that will be introduced. Nearly 300 bills have already been put in the hopper, but not one in ten of them will ever reach the governor. Among the important measures that have been offered since last week are the following:

Act designating electrocution as the means of inflicting all death sentences and providing that the electrocution shall take place in the penitentiary instead of in the county where the man is convicted.

Act to prohibit the operation of bucketshops and fixing a heavy fine for a violation of the law in that respect.

Act appropriating $186,000 for additional buildings on the state fair grounds in Louisville.

Act creating the office of state steam boiler inspector at a salary of $2,400 a year.

Act to repeal the dog tax law and another bill to increase the dog tax to $2 per head.

Act providing that where a newspaper is sued for libel the suit must be brought either in the county where the newspaper is published or in the county where the plaintiff resides.

Act appropriating $150,000 to erect buildings for a medical school in connection with the State university and $45,000 annually to maintain the school and buildings.

Act providing that in criminal trials the jury shall only find a verdict of guilty or not guilty, and if found guilty the judge shall fix the length of the sentence the convicted man must serve, just as it is in the United States court now. It is called indeterminate sentence law.

Act to provide pay for jurors who are summoned but who do not serve.

Act appropriating $25,000 a year for premiums at a second state fair, to be known as the "Blue Grass State Fair" at Lexington.

Act to regulate the operation of telephone companies by requiring them to connect with other lines. Another act putting telephone and telegraph companies under control of the railroad commission like railroads are now.

The matter of the legislators getting their salaries paid for this session has not been settled yet, and no bill has been introduced looking to replenishing the empty state treasury. The senate and house committees appointed to confer with the auditor and treasurer and advise them what to do, reported that it was the province of the legislature to tell executive officers what to do, and that as no legislation had been asked for the legislature had no advice to give. The committee did say, however, in their report that they did not endorse the using of the school money to pay any salaries or other claims on the treasury, and that the attorney general had expressed the opinion that it would be legal for the auditor to issue interest-bearing warrants. The empty treasury seems to have had little or no effect in deterring the introduction of appropriation bills, for already, before the members have barely warmed their seats, bills asking for appropriations amounting to over $600,000 have been offered and their passage will be urged most strongly. This, in the face of the fact that the deficit in the treasury right now is about $1,000,000, leads to the conclusion that some of the members at least have gone appropriation mad.

The Wyatt-Bosworth good roads amendment having been adopted to the constitution, these two senators have introduced bills to carry the amendment into effect, whereby the state may aid the counties to build good roads. The first bill provides for a state tax of 5 cents on the $100 to create a good roads fund in the state treasury. This fund will not be distributed indiscriminately, but will be proportioned to each county according to the ratio as the amount the county itself raises for road-building. If a county declines to vote a tax itself to build roads, then it will not get any of the state fund.

Under no circumstances will the state pay more than one-third of the cost of constructing any road in any county. Another bill following in the same line provides for the manner of establishing and maintaining public roads, raising revenue by the counties to help construct the roads, and creates the offices of state commissioner of roads and county engineer. It is believed that if these bills pass and become the law it will be but a comparatively short time till Kentucky will have as good roads all over the state as any of her sister states have now.

The cost of maintaining the magnificent new statehouse is likely to make some of the legislators open their eyes when they remember how little was formerly spent on the alleged upkeep of the old state building. In the first place the old buildings never were kept any ways decent and everything about the buildings was always covered with dirt and dust, probably because no appropriation was ever asked for or made to keep things clean. The last legislature made an appropriation of $16,000 a year for electricians, engineers, janitors, scrubbers and other needed laborers, and it will take all of that sum to keep the building in as clean and neat condition as it is now being kept. That is not near all the expense, however, for the cost of running the power house, where all the light and heat is made, mounts up mighty fast when several hundred bushels of coal are consumed every day. Add to this the cost of keeping the machinery of the power house in repair, and the total expense will be several thousands a year more than it cost to keep fires and lights in the old buildings. But just think what a difference! Everything in the new building is as clean as a new pin, it has every convenience in the way of lights, heat and water, thus making it a real pleasure to occupy it.

Indications point very strongly to the conclusion that no legislative redistricting bill will be passed at this session. A number of Democrats came here with the firm intention of voting for some sort of a redistricting measure, but when it was suggested to them that if they passed such a bill now, the census that is to be taken this year would likely make the new districts appear as one-sided in some instances as the present districts that are so much complained of, a number of them changed their minds and are now willing to wait till next session. As the Democrats have 73 out of the 100 members in the house and 26 of the 33 senators, it does look a little blue for the redistricting matter this session.

One of Governor Willson's hobbies is the bipartisan board of control for the state's charitable institutions, which has been in operation for two years. The board is composed of two Republicans and two Democrats, and the present law says that status as to politics must be maintained. Governor Willson says the board has done fine work for the state and is very anxious to have it continued just as it is, but a number of Democrats want the board put back like it was before last session—all Democrats. To do this it would be necessary to pass a new law, but a number of the friends of the two Democrats now on the board would not vote for the new bill. To win over these friends of the two members of the board it is now proposed to pledge a majority of the Democrats to vote to retain the two men on the board and elect two other Democrats to take the places of the two Republicans. Whether this scheme will result in abolishing the bipartisan board can not be foretold this early in the session.

Former Lieutenant Governor W. P. Thorne of Henry county, and a Democrat, was in Frankfort last week and was invited by resolution to address the senate. He accepted and made one of his characteristic humorous talks. He told his fellow Democrats that they must be "powerful" cautious what they did this winter, for, as he put it, "you know we Democrats always do some darn fool thing at the wrong time that puts us in bad for the next election." He took occasion to say also that he did not believe much in bipartisan boards, for he felt that to the victor belongs the spoils, and when the Republicans win they ought to have all the offices and when the Democrats win they ought to have the offices. The applause he got from both sides of the house indicated that the senators nearly all agreed with him on the spoils proposition.

Lieutenant Governor Cox of Maysville, who presides over the senate, is one of the most popular men in the whole legislature, and is deservedly so, for he "totes fair" with everybody and all those who know him say "he's as straight as a die." When Governor Willson takes a trip to New York next month, Cox will be the acting governor, and it has been planned when that time comes the senate will take a recess one day and go to the governor's office in a body and make an official call on their presiding officer and congratulate him on being the governor of Kentucky.

The Scrap Book

Too Realistic.
A fairly well to do but rather miserly farmer said to a friend: "Say, Bill, I'm going to kill my pig, but I owe so much pork to my neighbors that I shall have none left for myself if I pay it all back. What would you do?"

FOLLOWED INSTRUCTIONS.

The farmer followed instructions, and the kind friend watched his chance and stole the pig. The poor farmer came around next morning to tell what had happened. "Somebody's stolen my pig!" he cried.

"Good!" said the friend. "Stick to it, and the neighbors 'll believe you, sure enough."

"But it was stolen, I tell you!"

"Excellent!" quoth the friend.

"Just you stick to the tale."

"You confounded—"

"edass!" yelled the farmer. "Don't you understand? It was really stolen!"

"Superb!" laughed the delighted friend.

"You ought to have been an actor, so you ought."

Then the farmer slammed the door and went away fuming.

WENT AWAY FUMING.

Master of human destinies am I!

Pain, love and fortune on my footsteps wait.

Cities and fields I walk; I penetrate

Deserts and seas remote and, passing by

Hovel and mart and palace, soon or late

I knock unbidden once at every gate.

If sleeping, wake; if feasting, rise before

I turn away—'Tis the hour of fate.

Didn't Have to Resort to Numbers.

The school census taker stopped at a little hut in the mountains of Kentucky and, addressing the mother of an unusually large flock of children, said:

"Madam, I am taking the school census. How many children have you between the ages of six and—"

"Lemme see," she broke in, "there's Katy an' Mary an' Annie an' Lucy an' Carrie an' Rob an' Jake an' Will an' Harry an' Jim an'—"

She paused for a breath, and her caller made haste to say:

"Now, madam, if you could just give me the number—"

"Number!" she snapped. "Number!"

We ain't commenced numberin' yet, thank ye. We ain't run out of names."

Rose to the Occasion.

The consul in London of a continental kingdom was informed by his government that one of his countrywomen, supposed to be living in Great Britain, had been left a million of money. After advertising without result he applied to the police, and a smart young detective was set to work.

When a few weeks had gone by his chief asked him how he was going on.

"I've found the lady, sir."

"Good! Where is she?"

"At my place. I got married to her yesterday!"

The Next Move.

A substantial looking man halted for a moment in the street, pulled out a big wallet and examined a card which he took from it. As he dropped the card back and closed the book a fat wad of bills showed in one of its compartments. A pair of pickpockets passing caught sight of the money, and, with a rapid exchange of meaning glances, they dropped a little behind and followed the man for several blocks with the view of availing themselves of the first opportunity to relieve him of the roll. After awhile the man with the wad suddenly turned and entered a lawyer's office, leaving the pickpockets facing each other with looks of dismay.

"What shall we do now?" growled one of them.

"Let us wait for the lawyer," said the other.

Melba's First Appearance.

Melba's first public appearance was made at the age of six, when she sang "Comin' Thro' the Rye" at a school concert. She was eager to hear what her playfellows, and one in particular, thought of her triumph. After many indirect attempts to introduce the subject Nellie at length found herself unable to wait longer and exclaimed excitedly: "But the concert, the concert! I sang last night and was encored." And she looked with interest in the face of her friend, who answered wistfully: "Yes; Nellie Mitchell and I could see your garters."

SACRIFICE SALE OF SHOES!

EACH and every pair of our stock of Men's, Ladies, Boys', Misses and Children's Shoes, Hamilton Brown make included, to be closed out at less than cost.

This Sale is now full progress and will last up to and Including
JANUARY 29.

WHY do we sell these Shoes at less than cost? To tell the facts we have too many brands. We believe that a better Shoe trade is to be built up by handling only two or three tried and well known lines.

DO not wait till our stock is sold down, but come early to make the best selection of Shoes and sizes.

COOK TURNED DOWN AGAIN.

Original Notes Void of Substantial Proof in The Claims.

Copenhagen, Jan. 19.—The committee of the University of Copenhagen has completed its examination of Dr. Frederick A. Cook's original notes and to-day confirmed its previous conclusion that not the slightest proof that the explorer reached the North Pole had been submitted.

The report was submitted to the consistory of the University to-day. The committee finds that the copy of Cook's data, upon which its previous opinion was based, conforms in the main to the original notebook now in its possession.

The latter the examiners say, contains various alterations, but there is nothing to show whether the changes were made with the purpose of deceiving.

While the consistory was unanimous in declaring that Cook's claims were absolutely untrue, there are still some of its members who urge that Cook is an honest man, though not a scientist.

No immediate steps will be taken to rescind the honorary degree conferred upon Cook, as the verdict is merely one of "case unproven," so far as the decision of the University is concerned. However, Rector Solomonsen and Prof. Stromgren, the chairman of the Examining Committee, have been delegated to consider further evidence at their disposal after which final action concerning the university's honoring of the explorer may be taken.

Sitting in the Shadow.

One evening when Luther saw a little bird perched on a tree roost there for the night, he said: "This little bird has had its supper, and now it is getting ready to go to sleep here, quite secure and content, never troubling itself what its food will be, or where its lodging on the morrow. Like David, it 'abides under the shadow of the Almighty.' It sits on its little twig content, and lets God take care."

Wanted.
Smooth White Oak Logs 14 in. and up in diameter, 10 to 18 feet long. Delivered at track any station. Address, M. W. BARNARD, Hartford, Ky.

St. Elmo's Fire.
St. Elmo's fire is a peculiar condition of low electric intensity in the atmosphere, such as often occurs in fair weather, when by supposed induction and insulation, pointed objects projecting high above surrounding objects become surcharged with the electric fluid, and a brush discharge takes place, without audible noise, but with a feeble luminous glow. It has been observed on spires, on the masts and spars of ships.

The Lonely Farmer.
A Newtonbutler (Ireland), farmer has written to the Enniskillen Guardians asking them to help him in finding a wife. "I have asked several girls," he states, "but somehow the Irish girls have not the same feeling for a lonely man as what the English ladies have. I would be anxious to get an English lady, as I like their way of speaking."

Suicide Facts.
According to a compilation recently published, there were 7,643 suicides in Prussia in 1908. The most remarkable point about the statistics is that there were more suicides in summer than in winter. It appears, according to the figures, that people have the least inclination to quit this life on Saturday and Sunday.

Pride Is Necessary.
Pride may be allowed to this or that degree, else a man cannot keep up his dignity. In gluttony there must be eating, in drunkenness there must be drinking. It is not the eating, nor is it the drinking that is to be blamed, but the excess. So in pride.—John Selden.

Acme of Real Stupidity.
It is claimed that in his boyhood Shakespeare was so stupid that he did not know enough to come in out of the rain. Perhaps through this stupidity he got so wet that he became the great intellectual ocean whose waves touch the shores of all thought.

The New Writing.
Advice to an ambitious writer from a literary bureau: "Let your story always have contained in it the element of love, but always treat it in a strikingly original way. The old forms have gone out."

Show Worthiness!
Do something worth living for, worth dying for; do something to show you have a mind, and a heart, and a soul within you.—Dean Stanley.

No Jewish Lullabies.
It is remarkable that notwithstanding the love and devotion of a Jewish mother there seems to be no trace of a real Jewish lullaby. Those known are of a recent origin.

BOY RECEIVES SERIOUS WOUND.

Result of Friendly Scuffle in Butcher Shop at Whitesville.

Because Ernest Fuqua, the eleven-year-old son of Bibb Fuqua, lost his temper while scuffling with Louis Martin, aged sixteen years, a son of Jas. Martin, the latter boy was stabbed in the stomach by Fuqua and is in a dangerous condition. The boys were scuffling in the butcher shop of Lewis Percell at Whitesville and a number of people were in the shop at the time. The wounded boy was removed to his home where medical attention was given him. Dr. A. McDonald called Dr. Struman in consultation in the case and an operation was performed on young Martin Friday afternoon. The boy was resting fairly well Friday night, but his condition is very serious.

The boys were talking with others in the butcher shop and Martin and Fuqua got into a friendly scuffle, which caused the Fuqua boy to lose his temper. He grabbed a pocket knife which was open on the counter and before anyone in the place realized that he was going to use it, stabbed Martin in the stomach, the blade, which was very sharp, penetrating the intestines, causing an ugly wound.

The families of the boys are well known in the Whitesville section and the boys are generally liked in the town. No action has been taken in the case by the officials. The Fuqua boy is at his home.—[Owensboro Messenger.]
